

TECHNICAL SALES MANAGER

RUMINANT FEEDS

Our client is a leading regional feed manufacturer supplying a wide range of high quality ruminant feeds across Down, Armagh and Tyrone. The company now wishes to appoint a TECHNICAL SALES MANAGER to meet the challenge of growth and to service a well-established customer base in the area.

The successful candidate will:

- Ideally have an agricultural qualification or suitable experience
- Possess an ability to turn technical knowledge into sales
- Ideally have a proven track record in selling to livestock farmers
- Be capable of building strong relationships with customers
- Possess a driver's licence and be computer literate
- Be enthusiastic, highly motivated and driven by success

The post:

- Assume responsibility for the company's profitable activity throughout the area
- Grow market share through on-farm sales and a network of agents

In return, the successful candidate can expect a competitive salary, which will reflect the importance of the post, commission, a company car, phone and other expenses. If you believe that you have the necessary skills and experience to meet the challenge, please call for a Personal History Form or download a copy from our website. Closing date is Monday, 5th September.
